

Book of Condolences for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II

An official condolence book is now available for people to sign in honour of Queen Elizabeth II following her death on September 8, 2022. Available online as a form on the Government of Canada's website, the book of condolences gives members of the public an opportunity to pay their respects and express memories about Queen Elizabeth II.

The death of Her Majesty the Queen is significant for Canadians as it marks the end of the longest-reigning Sovereign in Commonwealth history, ushering in a new era with a King. The City of Parksville offers deepest condolences to the British people and the Commonwealth on this profound loss.

The City encourages people to post messages on the official book of condolences. As well, we have created a space on Let's Talk Parksville for residents to provide personal messages and memories. This page also provides the online link and information about the official Government of Canada condolence book.

###

For more information:

Deb Tardiff, Manager of Communications
dtardiff@parksville.ca; 250 954-3073